

If necessity is the mother of invention, we're looking for her kids

Enter the

Young Innovators Competition

ITU Telecom World 2013, organized by ITU, the leading United Nations agency for information and communication technology, is looking for the next generation of social entrepreneurs for its Young Innovators Competition.

Are you brave enough to transform your idea into a successful enterprise? Can your concept or start-up address one of our Global Challenges? If you are aged between 18 and 26 and feel technology is your second nature, enter the Young Innovators Competition.

You could win a chance to take part in ITU Telecom World 2013 event in Bangkok plus benefits including:

- Up to USD 10,000 in prize money for start-ups and up to USD 5,000 for concepts; both need to address one of the Global Challenges
- High level industry mentorship for a year
- A chance to exhibit on the showfloor and network with high level delegates
- Hands-on workshop training focusing on entrepreneurial skills

For details on how to enter the competition, visit world2013.itu.int/event/innovation/ or contact us at young.innovators@itu.int

What's stopping you?

Bangkok 19-22 November